

POETRY.

The following is published as the last thing written by the late EDGAR A. POE.

Annabel Lee. It was many and many a year ago, In a kingdom by the sea...

And this was the reason that, long ago, In this kingdom by the sea, A wind blew out of a cloud...

The angels, not half so happy in heaven, Went envying her and me— Yes!—that was the reason...

But our love it was stronger by far than the love Of those who were older than we— Of many far wiser than we—

For the moon never beams, without bringing out Of the beautiful Annabel Lee: And the stars never rise, but I feel the bright eyes...

Of my darling—my darling—my life and my bride, In her sepulchre there by the sea— In her tomb by the sounding sea.

The Distant Shrine. Ever onward—slowly wending, Still our wayward footsteps press Towards the shrine where hope is blending...

Sick at heart, care-worn and weary, To that light we lift our eyes, When this changing world seems dreary...

TRY.

We frequently hear individuals complain that they find it impossible to get anything to do—that for them all the avenues of trade are closed—and that they are particularly unfortunate...

speculation, should serve as a new warning and guide with regard to our future conduct, and this should be made available for the time to come.

As appropriate to the subject we may remind the reader of a well known anecdote of the celebrated Frederick the Great. We give it from memory. A gallant youth, anxious to serve under that distinguished monarch, left his home in the interior of the kingdom...

AGRICULTURAL.

From the Germantown Telegraph. Cutting Food for Cattle.

In a valuable pamphlet entitled "Notices for a Young Farmer," from the pen of Judge Peters, formerly President of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society, I find the following directions: "Cut or chaff your hay, straw, corn-tops or blades, and even your stalks, and you will save a great proportion which is otherwise lost..."

WASHINGTON HOUSE,

PORTAGE, NO. 2, A. P. R. R.

THE undersigned takes this method of informing his friends and the public generally, that he has taken that large and commodious House, favorably known as the WASHINGTON HOTEL, formerly kept by William Palmer, Esq., having fitted up the House in a style not to be surpassed by any other west of the mountains, the travelling community can rest assured that on his part there will be nothing wanting to make their sojourn a pleasant one, as he is determined to supply his table with the best that the country market can afford.

HIS BAR will be supplied with the choicest of Liquors.

HIS STABLE is large and roomy, and attended by careful and attentive Hostlers.

RICHARD TROTTER. A. P. R. R. June 6, 1849—36-f.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

The subscriber offers for sale or rent his well known TANYARD, adjoining the borough of Ebensburg on the east, lying between the turnpike and the Loretto road with three acres of land thereto attached under high state of cultivation, on which the following buildings have been erected, viz: a good two story frame dwelling house and a frame stable, and excellent buildings well adapted for a tanner's shop.

All the appurtenances necessary for carrying on the tanning trade are in excellent order, and can if required be enlarged. There is also a large supply of good water both at the house and at the tanyard.

Terms of sale will be reasonable. Possession will be delivered on the first day of April 1850.

JOHNSTON MOORE. Oct. 18, 1849—2-f.

THE GLOBE.

A CONGRESSIONAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND LITERARY NEWSPAPER.

The approach of Congress calls out the Annual Prospectus of the GLOBE Establishment.

The time is full of interest. The coming in of a new Administration—the consequent broaching of a new policy touching internal concerns of the country—the new and most important issues arising from the late vast accession to the public domain and the great national objects associated with it—the impending difficulties in our relations with France and the possible complication of our affairs with the troubles of Europe—conspire to create great expectation as to the proceedings of the next Congress.

The debate from the agitation of so many questions of vital interest to the Republic, will draw forth all the talent of the National Legislature. To bring its deliberations home to the people on each succeeding day, while measures are maturing, is in effect, to bring the whole nation in council. The discussion spreading from the Capitol to the remotest parts of the Union, forms a public opinion which reacts upon Congress, and controls its decisions.

To become a useful instrument, however humble, to assist the workings of the admirable machinery of our popular institutions, is the ambition of the conductor of the GLOBE. Extraordinary preparations have therefore been made to meet the increasing demands of our rapidly improving and growing country for Congressional intelligence.

The GLOBE Press has already enlisted the ablest Reporters yet known to Congress; its materials and machinery are of the best sort; and the exclusive devotion of the individual who for so many years has made it his study to embody and publish the labors of Congress, gives reason to hope that an advance will be made in the accomplishment of the undertaking commensurate with its increased importance.

But the accumulation of expense consequent on the additional number of Reporters required—the extra charges incurred in printing at night the debates of the preceding day—the vast addition made to the mass published by the protracted sessions and the fuller reports given—will render our enterprise a failure unless Congress shall so far patronize it as to become a purchaser of each portion of the daily sheets issued, as shall contribute to make the reports that fill them. The undersigned has ventured on the preparation he has made for the next Session in the expectation that Congress will subscribe for as many daily sheets for each member, at the subscription price, as will, in part, defray the expense of reporting, and give them circulation as Congressional documents in their several districts. This will enable the Publisher to bear the charge of reporting and it will give an impulse to the circulation of the Congressional Print, which although the cheapest in the Union (the expense of preparation considered) will yet yield sufficient profit to make the system permanent.

JOHN C. RIVES having purchased the interest of F. P. BLAIR in Jackson Hall—the printing office machinery and material—becomes the sole proprietor thereof, and will give his exclusive attention to the Congressional Department. J. C. PICKETT will conduct the miscellaneous Department of the Newspaper. F. P. BLAIR retires from both concerns, with prayers for their permanent usefulness and prosperity.

The GLOBE will be published daily during the session of Congress, and weekly the remainder of the year, and will undergo distribution in the form of a Weekly Globe, a Congressional Globe, and an Appendix.

The Weekly Globe will contain Agricultural and miscellaneous articles; and will occasionally give debate of such importance as command universal interest.

The price of the Weekly Globe is reduced to $1, with a view to obtain a more general circulation. Subscribers who have hitherto paid $2 per annum, will be charged only $1 after the expiration of the first year.

The Congressional Globe will embody, as it has for the last 16 years, Congressional proceedings and debates exclusively.

The Appendix will embrace the revised speeches of the members, and the messages of the President of the United States and the reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments.

The CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE and APPENDIX will be published as fast as the proceedings of Congress will make a number. Subscribers may expect one number of each a week during the first four weeks of a session and two or three numbers during the week afterwards, until the end of the session. Each volume will probably comprise two thousand royal quarto pages, of small type.

Complete indexes to the Congressional Globe and Appendix will be sent to subscribers soon after Congress adjourns.

Nothing of a political party aspect will appear in the GLOBE save that which will be found in the Congressional reports. A paper assuming to be an impartial vehicle for all sides, cannot maintain its character if the editorial columns reflect a party hue.

TERMS.

For one copy of the DAILY GLOBE (daily during the session of Congress, and weekly during the recess) a year, $5 00

For the DAILY GLOBE for less than a year at the rate of 84 cents a month.

For one copy of the WEEKLY GLOBE for one year, 1 00

For one copy of the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE during the session, 3 00

For one copy of the APPENDIX during the session, 3 00

For four copies of either, or part of both during the session, 10 00

For ten copies of either, or part of both during the session, 20 00

The prices for these papers are so low that advance payments are indispensable to carry them on.

Postmasters who may obtain subscribers will be allowed twenty per cent. on the subscription price for single papers, which they may retain when they send the names of subscribers and the subscription money. The price for the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE and APPENDIX to Clubs who take ten copies, is so low that no deduction can be afforded. Subscriptions may be remitted by mail, at our risk, in money at par in the section of the country where subscribers reside.

Where subscribers reside they may publish this Prospectus as often as three times before the first Monday in December, and send us one copy of their paper containing it distinctly marked around with a pen to direct our attention to it.

THE HOME JOURNAL. AN ELEGANTLY PRINTED FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

EDITED BY G. P. MORRIS & N. P. WILLIS. A New Volume of this brilliantly original and peculiar FAMILY NEWSPAPER, will be issued on the First day of January next. New subscribers can be supplied with the work from that date, by forwarding two dollars to the office of publication.

During the past four years The Home Journal has met with universal favor at the hands of all classes of the community, and the proprietors will spare neither exertions nor expense to give such increased value, interest and attractiveness to the forthcoming year, as will render it superior in every respect to all the volumes that have preceded it. Because the original productions of the editors, the Foreign and Domestic Correspondence of a large list of contributors, the choice of the European and American Magazines, selections from the most interesting publications of the day will frequently be given. Such features as have been found to be attractive will be retained, and new ones added. "The Belles of our Time" by N. P. Willis; "Brief Novels"; "Piquant Stories," the sparkling wit and amusing anecdote, news and gossip of Parisian papers, personal sketches of public characters; the stirring scenes of the city we live in; a chronicle of the news for ladies; the fashions and fashionable gossip; the facts and outlines of news the pick of English information and brilliancy of wit, humor and pathos of the times; essays on life, literature, society and morals, and the usual variety of careful choicings from the wilderness of English periodical literature, criticism, poetry, will still continue to enrich these columns.

As no more copies of the first numbers will be printed than the demand absolutely requires and as new subscribers generally desire to begin with the beginning, it is advisable to subscribe without delay, to avoid any disappointment in the early and prompt receipt of the Paper.

TERMS.—The Home Journal is published every Saturday, at No. 107 Fulton-street, New York, at the very low price of two dollars a year, or three copies for five dollars, payable invariably in advance.

All letters, remittances and communications (post paid) to be addressed to MORRIS & WILLIS, New York.
